2019 Medicare Handbook

Medicare Parts

- Part A is for inpatient hospital expenses. Free as a part of Social Security.
 Available when you reach age 65* or after 2 years on Social Security disability.
 *Start the 1st of birthday month, prior month if birthday is on the 1st.
- Part B covers outpatient, doctors, surgery and equipment. Basic cost is $135.50 per month*.
 Billed quarterly, monthly bank draft or deducted from one's Social Security.
- Medicare Supplement / Medigap plan pays the deductible and copays of your Part A & B coverage. Broadest plans with same coverage are F and G. G premium savings excess it's $185 deductible.
- Part D is the subsidized drug plan. Penalties apply if not enrolled during initial period.
 Typical premiums ~$20-35/month*. To determine the best plan for you, go to www.medicare.gov and enter your ZIP code, current drugs, and your pharmacy. A report will provide a list of plans starting with the lowest total cost until the end of the year. Total Cost = Premium + Deductible + Copays to end of the year.

Carrier enrollment links are provided on the government site. We do not sell Part D plans but provide tips and the enrollment link on our website: http://www.deesigned.com/medicare/medicare-part-d/

It's imperative that you re-evaluate your Part D coverage during the annual fall open enrollment period (10/15-12/7) Part D Plans have a right to change premium, deductible, copays and what they cover. Every year we see 20+ -plans with some enter and leave the market.

We send out several reminder notices, at the opening and near the end of the fall Open Enrollment Period.

Part C - Advantage Plans - most are basically HMOs for seniors, some PPO..
 You must pay for Medicare Part B, but you are leaving Medicare to purchase these plans.
 I will not sell these plans due to the lack of control over your own health coverage.
 I see 12 negatives and 2 positives - premium and some dental-vision-prescription coverage.

*Adjusted Gross Income (bottom page #1 of 1040) of $85,000+ ($170,000+ couples) pay more.
